

Encourage One Another

Hebrews 3:13 and 10:24-25 in Context

Encouragement empowers _____.

Encouraging habits “day after day”:

1. Encouragement is partnering with _____ at work in one another.

- Encourage – Parakaleo Hebrews 3:13, 6:18, 10:25
Each contrasts encourage to forsaking in willful sin
- Comforter – Paraklete e.g. John 14:16, 26; 16:7-14

Apply: Encouragement is just to share the _____...

2. Encouragement requires _____ for one another.

- Proven by biblical terminology
Parakaleo starts with Para... “To call to one’s _____.” Thayer’s Greek definitions
Apply: It is to get _____ enough to cooperate with _____ at work in the moment.
- Proven by biblical anthropology
Agree or Disagree? “God is all you really need.” (Text 402-910-2490 A or D)
God created people with _____ met by _____.

• Proven by biblical psychology

Apply: People have _____-needs that are met by human _____-mates. (Text your objections.)

• Proven by direct biblical instruction

Many commands require us to _____ one another, to obey.

• Proven by the _____ of Jesus Christ.

If He did not need to _____, the Father _____ the life of His Son.

Apply: I commit to _____!

3. Encouragement offers _____ for one another.

- It defends us from _____ of _____.
3:13 ...encourage one another lest you be _____...
- It helps us _____ rather than turning away.
6:18 An encouragement due to the danger of _____.
- It fosters _____.
10:25 ...not _____...but encouraging one another. (Note Paul’s ministry!)
13:22 I encourage you brethren with this word of encouragement...

Apply: I will follow the model of _____ or _____.

Our encouragements either keep people on their _____ or...

Challenge: What’s your commitment to one anothering?

- 1) Practice mimicking the _____.
- 2) Prioritize the ministry of _____: “I will _____!”

Encourage One Another

Hebrews 3:13 and 10:24-25 in Context

Encouragement empowers faithfulness.

Encouraging habits “day after day”:

1. Encouragement is partnering with God’s Spirit at work in one another.

- Encourage – Parakaleo Hebrews 3:13, 6:18, 10:25
Each contrasts encourage to forsaking in willful sin
- Comforter – Paraklete e.g. John 14:16, 26; 16:7-14

Apply: Encouragement is just to share the Spirit’s ...

2. Encouragement requires being there for one another.

- Proven by biblical terminology
Parakaleo starts with Para... “To call to one’s side.” Thayer’s Greek definitions
Apply: It is to get close enough to cooperate with God’s Spirit at work in the moment.
- Proven by biblical anthropology
Agree or Disagree? “God is all you really need.” (Text 402-910-2490 A or D)
God created people with needs met by intermediary agents.
- Proven by biblical psychology
Apply: People have soul-needs that are met by human soul-mates. (Text your objections.)
- Proven by direct biblical instruction
Many commands require us to be there with one another, to obey.
- Proven by the incarnation of Jesus Christ.
If He did not need to be here, the Father wasted the life of His Son.

Apply: I commit to be there!

3. Encouragement offers sustaining power for one another.

- It defends us from hardness of heart.
3:13 ...encourage one another lest you be hardened...
- It helps us press on rather than turning away.
6:18 An encouragement due to the danger of falling away.
- It fosters perseverance.
10:25 ...not forsaking...but encouraging one another. (Note Paul’s ministry!)
13:22 I encourage you brethren with this word of encouragement...

Apply: I will follow the model of Job or Eliphaz.

Our encouragements either keep people on their feet or...

Challenge: What’s your commitment to one anothering?

- 1) Practice mimicking the Spirit.
- 2) Prioritize the ministry of presence: “I will be there!”